Wind, Lightning Rain Lash States Along Seaboard

By the Associated Press

Severe thunderstorms and gale winds ripped along the eastern seaboard yesterday, damaging city, village and farm. Lightning killed two men near Camden, N. J., a laborer at Ellington, Conn.; a fisherman at Bridgeport, Conn., and two persons in West Virginia.

Another man died in a New Jersey traffic collision attributed to the storm, and a workman was killed in a fall from a slippery roof at Conshohocken.

A chimney toppled at Philadelphia Presbyterian hospital, fell into the women's surgical ward and injured four patients.

Wind ripped planking from a barge on Long Island sound, carrying overboard with it two men. They were rescued.

Hall stores the size of marbles fell on many areas.

Wind flattened acres of tobacco in Connecticut.

A bank at Boothbay, Me., closed for the day when runoff water flooded its business office. Water rose to seat level in a theater there, also, but drained away in time for the show to go on.

Large sections of New Haven, Conn., were without lights or power and utility firms there went on an emergency footing.

Some areas were hit once and then again later by follow-up storms.

Wind gusts up to 82 miles an hour—hurricane force if they had been sustained—battered parts of Pennsylvania.

Lightning danced and thunder echoed off New York and Philadelphia skyscrapers, as sheets of rain drove residents to shelter.

Wheat, oat and corn crops were seriously damaged in upstate New York and flash flood waters spread over celery, onion and lettuce crops.

Trees and utility poles were blown down, barn roofs whirled away, bridges were washed out, railroads and highways were cut off and some fires broke out.

A cloudburst spilled 1.6 inches of rain on Providence, R. I., in little more than half an hour, turning downtown streets into vast, shallow rivers, building to building in width.

Three main-line New Haven railroad trains were delayed up to an hour. Phone lines were knocked out.

It was the worst storm in the Rhode Island capital since the 1938 hurricane.

New York city got a noon-hour downpour, accompanied by hail stones reportedly half an inch in diameter. Women took off their shoes to wade across water-filled streets. Cellars were flooded. Some subways were stalled or delayed.

At about the same time, a terrific thunderstorm hit Philadelphia, with 35-mile an hour winds whipping the rain in blinding, smoke-like sheets. The storm lasted 25 minutes. Cars, buses and trolleys were stalled. Severe winds, also were reported in adjacent Bucks, Montgomery, Berks and Lehigh counties.

Vermont and New Hampshire also got heavy rains.

New York state was lashed by storms that started late Wednesday and continued off and on until noon yesterday.

The weather bureau blamed a low pressure area southeast of Hudson bay in Canada.

More than an inch of rain fell in 20 minutes at Syracuse. Rochester was raked by wind and rain for four hours, and half a dozen fires were started by lightning.

Senate OKs $3 Increase In Pension Benefits

Washington (AP)—The Senate yesterday voted to give a $3-a-month boost in the Federal share of relief grants to needy aged, blind and totally disabled persons.

In addition, the chamber approved a $1.60-a-month increase for dependent children.

The bill now goes to the House. Sponsors of the legislation said they are hopeful the states will match the $3-a-month increase so that aged beneficiaries will get $6 a month more.

Old-age assistance payments averaged $43.14 a month across the nation in the latest month for which figures are available.

Demand Higher Rates

London, (AP)—All 20,000 physicians in Britain's socialized health service told the government last night they would resign Sept. 25 unless their demands for increased pay rates were submitted to arbitration.

Heavy Rains Wash Out Truce Talks

Seoul, Korea, Friday (AP)—Crucial armistice talks were postponed today after rain-swollen streams prevented the Allied delegation from reaching Kaesong by jeep.

An Allied spokesman at first announced that the important meeting had been cancelled. Later he amended his report to "postponed"—indicating that the delegation may try to reach the conference site later in the day.

The five Allied representatives had tried to go to Kaesong by jeep because bad weather grounded their helicopters. Heavy rains washed out sections of the 15-mile road between the truce city and the U. N. advance camp.

A spokesman said the official party was returning to the advance camp.

The meeting—with peace or war apparently depending on one issue—had been scheduled for 10 a. m. (8 p. m., EDT, Thursday).

(That issue was not disclosed by the U. N. delegation, but in Washington, U. S. Secretary of State Acheson said the Communist representatives "raised the question of the withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea in connection with an armistice.")

"The United Nations delegation has stated that it cannot go into this question, which is political in character and can only be settled by the United Nations and the governments concerned."

(Acheson added that "a United Nations force must remain in Korea until a genuine peace has been firmly established and the Korean people have assurance that they can work out their future free from the fear of aggression.")

Today's meeting was to have been the eighth in the series. An official U. N. spokesman had said yesterday there would either be an agreement "or there will be an air of finality about the disagreement."

The spokesman's statement was the most pessimistic yet made by either side since the momentous talks began in Communist-held Kaesong July 10.

It came after a U. N. communiqué gloomily reported "no progress" in the short seventh session Thursday.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme Allied commander, hurried back to advance Allied headquarters in Korea after spending several days in Tokyo.

Correspondents said Ridgway's unexpected return to Korea yesterday afternoon might foreshadow important new developments within 10 days or less.

Here, briefly, was the cease-fire picture:

One. The United Nations and North Korean-Chinese negotiating teams have agreed on all items for an agenda except one.

Two. The disputed item—officially undisclosed but probably dealing with the removal of foreign troops—has been characterized as a political matter. Consequently, it is out of the hands of the Allied representatives, who are authorized to take up only military matters.

Three. Should this item be dropped by mutual consent, or a compromise effected, the conferees could go right on to the question of halting the fighting on the Korean peninsula.

The communiqué, issued last night, lent credence to the belief that withdrawal of foreign troops was the crux of the talks.

Nurse's Crusade Nears Payoff With Passage Of Measure But She Won't Be Eligible To Benefit From Its Provisions

Only the signature of Gov. John S. Fine is required to successfully close out a crusade conducted almost single-handedly by and without hope of any gain or return for herself by Miss Loretta Biggs, Stroudsburg, a registered nurse who became the victim of tuberculosis while actively engaged in her profession.

The signature of Governor Fine is needed on Senate Bill No. 457, passed recently by both houses of Pennsylvania's Legislature to give hundreds of thousands of nurses in this State coverage by the occupational disease act of 1939.

The bill, which only a few days ago passed the House of Representatives 207 to 0, amends the 1939 act by including tuberculosis within the meaning of the term occupational disease in the case of nurses in hospitals and sanitariums.

The entire measure, plus many months of research filling several large pages, is the brain-child of Miss Biggs. Almost single-handedly, she marshalled support for her bill when it was first introduced in the Legislature in the 1949 session.

Her hopes were high when it sailed through the House of Representatives with a substantial majority. They were dashed, but only briefly, when the bill died in the Senate without even moving to the committee.

"We'll try it again and next time we'll win," Miss Biggs said after that first attempt.

This year Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe introduced the bill in the Senate first. It rolled through without any trouble. Contacts made by Miss Biggs with legislators and through friends of legislators she'd contacted on her first attempt produced a coalition so powerful it cleared the House without a dissenting vote.

During the interim between the time Miss Biggs learned she was not a compensable casualty of her nursing profession . . . in which she had contracted tuberculosis . . . she devoted months of her time on research dealing with the incidence of tuberculosis among nurses.

At first she did not have to go far. Two of her classmates were afflicted with the disease while working at their profession. The two classmates did not live to see Miss Biggs achieve success in her determined battle to see that comrades in her profession who contracted tuberculosis received the occupational disease protection.

Miss Biggs' brief in support of her bill covered several pages and dealt with findings over a period of many years on tuberculosis as an occupational disease among nurses in hospitals and sanitariums.

Much of the plan she developed was thought out while she underwent costly treatment at Saranac Lake, N. Y., and while she recovered from an operation for the removal of one lung, six ribs and a tube in her respiratory system. She had plenty of time to think out her project.

Miss Biggs was on nursing duty at both St. Luke's hospital and the General hospital in East Stroudsburg. She spent 18 months in Saranac Lake. Feeling she had recovered she enlisted in the Army Nursing Corps, serving at Aberdeen, Md.

She was finally discharged from (Continued on page six)

Four-Month Freeze Is Approved

Washington (AP)—The House voted unexpectedly yesterday to put a four-month ban on any wage and price increases above the ceilings of July 7.

The lower priced farm commodities would be exempt from any effect of the freeze. It was proposed by Rep. Davis (D-Ga.).

The winning side in the 180 to 151 vote was made up of Republicans and southern Democrats who have fought the controls program advocated by the Truman administration.

For the Republicans, Rep. Wolcott of Michigan, told the House in advance of the vote:

"This presents an opportunity for those of you who have been calling for stiff price controls to have stiff price controls and to effectuate the policy of equal sacrifice for all."

The amendment would continue, for the 120 days after passage of the bill, the price-wage ceilings in effect July 7. Rep. Davis called it a "breathing spell" arrangement that would allow further time to decide what to do about price roll-backs.

Rep. Spence (D-Ky.), manager of the administration's control bill, declared the freeze would be unequal, making no provision for dealing with hardships and inequities.

However, Rep. Halleck (R-Ind.) backed the idea and said President Truman, after first telling Congress he did not want controls, "is now trying to shift the blame for inflation to the shoulders of Congress."

Downtown, Director Michael V. DiSalle of the Office of Price Stabilization, was asked about the freeze at a news conference. He said:

"I think from our own standpoint, it would mean four months of ease."

He added that if it went through "several hundred thousands of businesses would have to close their doors, because we would be unable to give them price relief."

"I just couldn't estimate how much unemployment and chaos a thing like that could cause in a four months period."

The amendment would not freeze July 7 prices were below parity—the prices of farm products whose the level calculated to be fair to a farmer in relation to the cost of things he has to buy. Some crops are selling well above parity, many below.

Davis was asked, after the House quit for the day, what effect his freeze date would have in cases where wage increases have been approved since July 7. He replied he was not committed to July 7, and would "just as soon have July 15 or July 20."

"If the date is inequitable to anybody, it can be changed in conference with the Senate," he said. "The purpose of the date in my bill was just to prevent people from increasing prices in anticipation of a freeze," he told reporters.

As Davis explained it, the freeze would apply to ceilings that are under price-wage regulations. He said "as I construe it" anybody selling at below OPS ceilings of July 7 could raise their prices to those ceilings, also it would be permissible to raise a worker's wages to the ceilings in effect July 7. The wage ceiling now allowed is 10 per cent above the level of January, 1950.

The Davis plan would have no bearing on the previously approved House amendment allowing the present 10 per cent rollback on live beef prices to go into effect, but barring future rollbacks on beef.

Also, Rep. Wolcott told reporters he saw nothing incompatible between the Davis ceiling freeze, and the House provision voted Monday night requiring all price ceilings to permit a "reasonable profit."

Flood Nears St. Louis; Fears Mount

St. Louis, (AP)—Anxiety mounted here last night as the Missouri river's worst flood crest in a century or more swept on from central Missouri toward a juncture with the already swollen Mississippi.

St. Louisans were urged to go sparingly on water as concern was expressed over the city's pumping plants.

The crest, passing the state capital of Jefferson City yesterday, already had left an estimated $750,000,000 damage in Kansas and eastern Missouri. And fear was expressed that losses here might equal the 1947 flood damage of $9,000,000.

The flood tide was expected to reach nearby St. Charles, Mo., Saturday with a stage of 38.3 feet. That would be the highest there since 1844. The Mississippi's crest is predicted at 40.5 feet Monday, also the highest in 107 years.

Big Plane Belly Lands In Storm

Richmond, Va., (AP)—A New York-Miami airliner, rocked and buffeted by a violent squall, came roaring down to a safe emergency landing yesterday on James river estate near Richmond. Fifty three persons including a three-month-old baby were aboard.

The stage was set for a major disaster for the troubled aircraft. But it didn't come off.

Capt. J. B. Armstrong of Miami, pilot of the Eastern Airline four-engine Constellation, brought the big silver plane into a skidding belly landing on a flat meadow on Curles Neck farm. The farm is about 15 miles southeast of this city.

The plane skidded across the meadow, swept through a light fence and finally came to rest near a stand of trees. It left a trail of crumpled metal from engine panels in the 200-yard path.

Inside the plane, passengers said there was no panic and not much confusion.

Court Orders Hearings On Phone Rates

Philadelphia (AP)—The State Superior court yesterday ordered the Public Utility commission to hold new hearings to fix Bell Telephone Co. rates in Pennsylvania.

The decision reversed a ruling by the State Public Utility commission granting an $18,000,000 rate increase to the telephone company on Dec. 31, 1948. But it did not make the current rates inoperative.

Instead, the appellate court directed the PUC to hold new hearings to fix new rates and to refund the difference to consumers if the new rates are less than those now charged.

The court's majority opinion was written by Judge John C. Arnold, who told a reporter that the telephone company, in its original application, agreed to make refunds if the courts rejected the increase.

President Judge Chester H. Rhodes wrote an opinion which dissented in part from the majority ruling. Judges Claude T. Reno and F. Clair Ross concurred with Rhodes in the partial dissent.

The tariffs approved in 1948 increased the rates for private phones from 25 to 75 cents a month and business phones from 25 cents to $1 a month.

He was given medical aid by Dr. Floyd Hess, Bangor, and taken to the Eastern hospital by ambulance.

Push Housing Plans

Washington (AP)—Members of Congress and the Army promised swift action yesterday to push housing legislation and end squalor and rent gouging around Army camps.

FBI Chief Boomed For Presidency

Washington (AP)—A boom for J. Edgar Hoover for the Republican presidential nomination in 1952 was launched yesterday by Rep. Shafer (R-Mich.).

The "Hoover-for-president" idea, Shafer said in a statement in the Congressional Record, was not his own but he was glad to endorse it.

It came, he said, from a consultant after "grass roots" consultation with others seeking to find a logical nominee.

"The FBI director, Shafer said, 'offers, with his record and reputation, a competence and an integrity which are already a symbol and a tradition to the American people.'"

HST In Dark About Ike's 1952 Plans

Washington (AP)—President Truman indicated yesterday he is just as mystified as anybody else whether Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will run for the White House in 1952.

Mr. Truman told his news conference he hasn't talked politics with Ike—as he called him—since 1949, so he doesn't know what the five-star general is going to do.

The President said that when they discuss it and Eisenhower tells him what he is going to do, then he will rely on it—because, he said, Eisenhower's word is good.

Once again, as he did last week, Mr. Truman insisted he had not used the word "never" in discussing what Eisenhower told him about being a candidate for president.

He said Eisenhower told him in 1949 that he was not a candidate, but he doesn't know whether that is still Eisenhower's position. The subject came up, Mr. Truman said, when they were talking about Eisenhower going to Europe to head a combined European defense force.

Allies Probe Central Army

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Friday (AP)—Allied patrols on the control front probed up to three and a half miles yesterday. They ran into stiff resistance from Communist platoons and companies.

An Eighth Army spokesman said one patrol west and northwest of Hanchon, about eight miles north of the 39th parallel, was forced to withdraw under heavy automatic weapon and mortar fire. The Reds attempted to follow but were dispersed by artillery fire.

Convicts Spies

Tokyo, Friday (AP)—Seventeen Koreans and Japanese today were convicted by an Allied international provost court of conspiracy to commit espionage.

The court found the defendants guilty on 41 of 44 counts which ranged from acts inimical to the security of the occupation to espionage and conspiracy.

Forty-five suspects were arrested in the spy ring investigation. Trial of the remaining defendants will begin shortly.

Franco Sets Up New Regime; Will Return King To throne

Madrid, Spain, (AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco set up a new government last night in moves for better relations with the west and for returning a king to the Spanish throne.

The moves were reported to be in line with the midweek preliminaries by Franco and American Adm. Forrest P. Sherman for setting up U. S. Naval and air defense bases in Spain.

Franco signed a decree appointing a new cabinet of strong monarchist complexion.

He is reported to have told his new government that Spain "will carry out the restoration of the monarchy."

Insistent rumors are circulating through Madrid that Don Juan, the exiled pretender, may renounce his rights to the throne in favor of his 13-year-old son, Juan Carlos—if Franco will allow the boy to be crowned under a regency.

A 1947 decree declaring the nation still a monarchy specified the future king would have to be Spanish, a male, at least 30 years old and a Roman Catholic. The archbishop primate of Spain would serve as a three-man regency.

Franco is believed to oppose flatly any attempt to put Don Juan on the throne.

While Franco is believed to favor the son, Juan Carlos, Spanish monarchists are divided between the father and the son. Political informants emphasized that there are many ticklish negotiations ahead and that the restoration of the monarchy will not come overnight.

A reliable source also quoted Franco as saying he intends to tighten Spain's connections with the western powers, mainly the United States.

President Truman told his news conference in Washington yesterday that the U. S. has changed its policy toward Spain to some extent for military reasons. The President said Secretary of State Dean Acheson covered the matter fully when he said the U. S. wants to enlist Spain in "the common defense against possible aggression."

Kim, Four Others Sentenced To Die

Pusan, Korea, (AP)—A south Korean court martial yesterday decreed death for Brig. Gen. Kim Yoon Keun and four other officers convicted of misappropriating about $1,000,000 in government funds.

Kim formerly commanded the Korean republic's national guard. The others sentenced were Kim's deputy and his transport, finance and supply officers.

In the audience when sentences were handed down at Taegu were Defense Minister Lee Ki Pong and the ROK Army commander, Maj. Gen. Lee Chong Chan.

Con Man Got $200,000 From Two Priests

Washington (AP)—Two Greek Catholic priests testified yesterday they were taken for perhaps $200,000 by a peg-legged influence peddler, described by Senators as a professional "con man."

The priest—Father Maxim Markiw and Father Peter Hewko—identified the man as Samuel D. Mason of New York City.

Chairman Hoey (D-N.C.) of a special Senate investigating subcommittee said the man fleeced a string of "gullible victims" out of more than a third of a million dollars. He said the man had a long criminal record.

Hoey said the man's most lucrative line seemed to be convincing people the government was going underground to escape an atomic attack and that government buildings could be leased for as little as a dollar-a-year.

One-by-one witnesses ticked off a story of how Mason talked them out of huge piles of cash for promises of obtaining special government favors. The promises were never filled, they said.

Mason, a short red-faced man of about 60 years of age, has denied to Senators that he did anything wrong. He is under a subpoena to appear before the subcommittee, probably today.

Shoplifter Uses Diet As Defense Against Charges

Sheffield, Eng., (AP)—Mrs. Janet Horton put up a novel defense against a shoplifting charge yesterday: She was in a trance from dieting.

Her doctor told the court Mrs. Horton, 32, was literally unconscious when she walked out of a store with a suitcase she had failed to pay for.

The doctor explained Mrs. Horton's skinny diet had sharply lowered her blood sugar content. As a result, he said:

"She was like a football player who has had a bad knock on the head and goes on playing, and is later unable to remember anything about the game."

The judge dismissed the charge when Mrs. Horton promised to give up her diet.

Boy Found Dead In Old Icebox; Brother Rescued

Kendallworth, N. J., (AP)—Two small boys told to play indoors during a thunderstorm were found late yesterday trapped in a discarded cellar icebox, one of them dead. The motionless bodies of Karl Harms, 4, and his brother, Loren, 2, were pulled from the icebox by their father when he returned home from work. Rescue squads brought little Loren back to consciousness, but Karl was pronounced dead of suffocation several hours later.

Proposed Law Gives State Agency Powers To Regulate Antlerless Deer Seasons

Harrisburg, (AP)—The State Game commission made ready yesterday to assume sweeping new powers to regulate antlerless deer seasons in Pennsylvania.

The new powers are embodied in a bill now before Gov. John S. Fine for formal action.

The proposed new law would give the commission the right for the first time to establish license quotas for antlerless deer seasons in the various counties.

It also would take away from local sportsmen and farmers the right to abrogate open seasons in their home counties by petition.

The legislation also fixes a special license of $1.10 for the antlerless season. This is in addition to the present $3.15 hunting license.

"I am not sure this law would be the final answer to the deer problem," said Thomas D. Frye, executive director of the State Game commission, but he added:

"It is certainly better than what we have had."

Pennsylvania's deer herd now numbers some 700,000, a size said by the commission to be too large for available food cover. As a result, many have been reported damaging farm crops, while others have starved for lack of food during wintertime.

The answer, the commission has said, would be to give that agency more power to fix season limits and bags. Some sportsmen have differed with this view.

The special licenses to be issued for the antlerless deer season under the proposed new law would be sold on the basis of 60 per cent within the county and the remainder by the Department of Revenue. Out-of-state hunters would be permitted to buy licenses only within a thirty-day period preceding the season.

Frye said the commission has had the power in past years to fix a kill quota in each county declared open, but has seldom taken advantage of the power. The new law requires that quotas must be fixed.

The removal of local abrogation powers was termed one of the major points of the new legislation. Last year, a total of 14 Pennsylvania counties designated by the commission for antlerless deer season, over-ruled the agency by their petition powers.

The antlerless deer season this year has been fixed for December 14-15 following the regular buck season which runs from December 3-13.

Two Slayings Puzzle Police Investigators

Chicago (AP)—Two gang-style slayings of Chicago business executives within three days yesterday had investigators groping for clues to apparently meaningless killings.

Latest victim of gunfire was John J. Cassidy, 56, well-to-do building contractor. He was shot to death early yesterday while driving in suburban Cicero, apparently as he attempted to elude pursuers.

Police said they had found no motive for the killing.

Still lacking a motive also, was the slaying Tuesday of Charles Crane, 37-year-old sales manager of a scrap paper firm. He was shot to death in his automobile as he drove up to his office on the west side.

In the Crane killing, several witnesses saw the killer as he fled in a car driven by another man.

There were no eye witnesses to the killing of Cassidy. He was found, dying, in his wrecked automobile after it had crashed into a residence on 39th St. in the suburb. He died without regaining consciousness.

Eight women lived to see their sons become president of the United States—the mothers of Washington, Madison, Polk, Grant, Garfield, McKinley, Franklin Roosevelt and President Truman.

$334 Missing Along With Inn Employee

Police authorities are looking for a maintenance man employed at Tommy Cullen's Binnie-Kill lodge, Shawnee-on-Delaware who is accused of suddenly disappearing from his job and taking with him $334 in cash that two guests handed him to be placed in the office safe until called for.

Pfc. Emil J. Weber, of the Stroudsburg barracks of State police, who was called in on the case, identified the accused as John F. Fairbanks, 28, who gave his address as Williamam, Conn., missing since last Saturday night.

Police say that two young ladies registered Saturday afternoon and handed Fairbanks the $334 in cash to be placed in the safe until such time as they requested return of the money. Fairbanks gave his receipt for the money, police said.

The first Mr. Cullen knew of the alleged theft was Tuesday morning when the women checked out and requested their money, presenting at the same time the receipt that had been given them. Cullen, who as operator of the lodge, was responsible for the cash, took up the matter with the State police barracks and Pfc. Weber was placed on the case.

Fairbanks is described as being of slight build, about 5 feet, 7 inches tall, with dark curly hair and dark complexion. He is said to have come to the Shawnee area around July 1 and was employed at another resort there before going to Binnie-Kill lodge. Fairbanks has followed hotel routine for some time being employed at Florida resorts during the winter.

Mrs. Frank Roth, 22 N. Fourth St., noticed volumes of smoke emanating from the chimney on one of a series of garages in the rear of her home and called her son, Paul, a member of the department, who put in the alarm.

The place was filled with smoke when the firemen arrived. The burning seat was removed from the car and the fire was under control in short order.

Do the Able Need Aid?

What has become more and more a controversial question with the passage of years is brought up again in a bill introduced this week in the legislature, by which public assistance grants to able-bodied persons are eliminated.

The act, sponsored by an Indiana County Republican, would result in no inconsiderable savings to the Commonwealth if enacted into law, it is claimed by the western Pennsylvania representative.

Ever since public assistance became a major element in the distribution of public funds to those who are ostensibly in dire need of the necessities of life, there has been a growing feeling throughout the state that too many citizens who are able to earn their way are not doing so because they believe it is less exhausting to get on the relief rolls.

In the present period of high employment, it is the contention of those who favor the bill, there are still great numbers of men and women accepting checks from the state, and in support of this contention they point to the growing number of advertisements offering work in almost every category.

Undoubtedly there is more than meets the eye in this perplexing problem, for often there are sound reasons for an apparently able-bodied citizen to remain on the public assistance lists rather than to get out and get himself regular employment. Whether the recently introduced bill would solve the problem is a proper matter for intensive study.

Back to Independence

At least one occupant of the White House in Washington is anxious to quit the place and return home to the cloistered quiet of her residence in Independence, Missouri.

Mrs. Truman has given indication from the very beginning that she was not keen about the job of First Lady. Whenever possible, she has taken herself out of the Washington limelight and headed for the calmer atmosphere of the Middle West, where she can be just the kind of a citizen she prefers to be, just folks.

According to a recent story out of the nation's capital, she is hoping that Mr. Truman will not be a candidate next year.

Of all the wives of the Presidents since the turn of the century, nearly all were inclined to stay in the background as much as possible, and that is just exactly what Bess Truman has wanted to do and has accomplished with great success.

They Talk Too Much

One of our greatest national weaknesses, and doubtless we have many others, is our inability to keep our mouths shut.

This is especially true, unfortunately, of our elected representatives, be they in Washington, Harrisburg, or wherever. The American people seem to be just constitutionally incapable of not talking too much.

Latest demonstration of this unfortunate characteristic came last week when a member of the House Armed Services Committee sounded off to a reporter about the shockingly few bombers of the B-36 type we have on hand or building. He got this information during a committee hearing at which the Air Force held such information to be secret, and had even posted guards around the hearing room to see that no unqualified persons entered.

All the guards in the world and all the warnings to keep their mouths shut seem to have no effect on the blabbermouths who apparently believe themselves gaining stature by telling the secrets of the land to the first persons who will listen to them.

Until our elected and appointed representatives can learn to hold their tongues, security in this country is a mighty tenuous thing.

Joseph Hoag, of Vermont, was one of the outstanding American Quakers of the nineteenth century, and his son Lindley gave promise of following in his footsteps. Both men attended a Quarterly Meeting, where they sat side by side. Lindley felt he had a message for the meeting, but hesitated to speak because he felt everybody wanted to hear his father preach.

Joseph, however, did not feel he had a message that particular day. Noticing that his son was champing at the bit, he prodded him lustily with his foot, whereupon Lindley jumped up and preached an amazing sermon. But the elders had seen the hint, so at the conclusion of the meeting they criticized the older man for deciding when somebody else should preach. Joseph said quietly, "If you can kick a sermon like that out of any of your boys, you had better do it."

Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—Sterling Hayden, who told Congressmen that joining the Communist party was "the stupidest, most ignorant thing I've ever done," thinks he has finally grown up.

"Some people grow up late," the 35-year-old actor remarked the other day. "I did. I was always driven by a complex to be somewhere else. Now, to use sailing parlance, I want to stay on a course."

The towering blond seaman said he began to "blow up," to want to settle down and make a go of his picture career, after the second of his three children was born. "I'd been through the Communist thing and was sweating out the aftermath."

Recently he told the House Committee on Un-American Activities that he was a Communist party member from June to December, 1946. As a wartime Marine Corps captain serving the OSS, he ran battalions of supplies by night to Tito's Yugoslav guerrillas.

He told me that, previously preoccupied with boats and the sea, and never exposed to political thinking, he became "drunk-infatuated" with the fight they were putting up.

Returning from the Washington hearings, he completed his role as a drifting ex-preacher in "What Is My Sin?" A month later he was signed to lead a gang of wildcat railroad builders in "Denver and Rio Grande."

"I've been going through a lot of changes," Hayden said. "You get what you give and it's high time I gave a little."

Acting used to scare him. "My attitude was, I'll just stay in this

State of California, the Japanese built and held for a short period, from 1895 to 1945, a vast and effectively administered area in Asia from the Kurile Islands into the South Seas and Korea and Manchuria on the mainland of Asia.

From 1853 to 1911, the United States assisted in the building of Japan. It was largely loans from American banks that helped to create and expand Japan's industry. Russian imperialism in Manchuria caused the United States in 1899 to issue the John Hay "open door policy," which strengthened Japan indirectly because it arrested the Russian advance in Manchuria. As a result of Anglo-American support of Japan, in 1902, the Anglo-Japanese alliance was formulated. This was the first recognition of an East Asian people as an equal by any western power. The Anglo-Japanese alliance was one of

Washington Report

By Fulton Lewis Jr.

Washington—By the time you see this in print, I will be two days out on the Atlantic Ocean headed for Europe for a look at what has happened to the people and the countries we have fought and worked for in the past decade.

I expect to be gone almost two months. During the second month, dispatches from Europe will fill this space. For the first four weeks you will have the pleasure of hearing from some of the finest citizens in America, all friends of ours and mine.

The Vice President of the United States, Alben Barkley, will share his thoughts with you on the world as he sees it today as one of my guest columnists. He, along with the others, is free to use this space as he desires. And I can assure you that along with the others, the Vice President will make it worth your while to stick around.

J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the FBI, will be lead off author. He is bringing a message of importance to every citizen. His job is one of the most important in the free world today and what he has to say about it, and how we can help him with it, is a concern of all of us.

A life-long friend of mine, Millard Caldwell, former Governor of Florida and now Director of Civilian Defense, is another guest columnist whose remarks will have a special bearing on our security. Dean Gordon, director of the world's highest atomic energy industry, has promised to fill this space with some important non-secret observations concerning his great task.

I already have in hand an interesting column from Lindsay Warren, Comptroller General of the United States. He is one of the notable public servants now serving his government in Washington. He makes sense out of the vast and complicated operations of government finance—something, let me assure you, that is not easy to do. And what he has written will make sense to you.

Eric Johnston, director of the economic stabilization administration, in the midst of what he considers a basic political fight in the nation's history, has consented to take time out for the purpose of sending along a message. He can expound on a topic affecting all of us in our day to day lives through this world crisis.

Hollywood is going to be ably represented herein. Ginger Rogers, banding along a column on her observations about life in movie-land today. George Murphy, the constant crusader for the American way of life, is adding his ideas from the standpoint of a Hollywood veteran who has been through the ideological wars. Adolphe Menjou, one of my favorite people, has already provided me with his views in writing. It's long enough to get myself a ship and get out," he told me. "It was completely unrealistic. Unfortunately I was so shot full of luck, it worked for a long time. If it hadn't, I'd have wised up sooner."

Divorced from Madeleine Carroll after the war, Hayden later married Betty DeNoor. They and their first two babies lived on his schooner at Los Angeles Harbor. During "Asphalt Jungle" they moved into a rented house. Their only boating now is on occasional week-ends. His 45-foot ketch is moored at Santa Barbara.

Sterling said he has worked and studied hard the last two years and is no longer scared of acting. He might want to take another long cruise some time. "Before I was so absorbed in schooners I never saw anything. Once I went around the world in a year and a half and never slept ashore."

the most constructive arrangements in Asiatic affairs and it was a pity that American influences after World War I brought it to an end.

In 1904 Japan went to war with Russia, receiving the moral and financial support of the United States. (At that time, the financial support consisted of loans from private banks.) Japan won that war by the Treaty of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, Theodore Roosevelt, who was then President, taking the position that a strong Japan was essential to the peace of East Asia. For that peace was even then imperilled by the aggressive imperialism of Russia and the weakness and disorganization of China. Theodore Roosevelt, who was influenced in his thinking by John Hay, Henry Cabot Lodge, and Elihu Root, moved soundly in Asiatic affairs.

About 1911, an agitation developed against the Japanese in California, led by the McClatchys of the Sacramento "Bee." This had to do with the ownership of land in California and produced a race-prejudice which affected not only Japanese, but all the peoples of Eastern Asia, Chinese, Filipinos, Hindus, etc. Its counterpart in Asia was a violent and growing anti-Americanism.

typical Menjou and I'm only sorry that it is impossible to convey the accent to you on paper.

He will be pleased to know that Louis Budenz is also one of my guest columnists.

Senator Harry Byrd, Democrat of Virginia, world renowned apple grower, and sometimes lonely voice of economy in an orchard of free spenders, has promised 750 words of fiscal wisdom—or a treatise on apple cider, if he desires.

Senator Joseph R. McCarthy, Republican of Wisconsin, is going to set the record straight on a few items herein; Senator George A. Smathers, Democrat of Florida, might give us inside information on what he did to eliminate Claude Pepper from the Senate; Senator Styles Bridges, Republican of New Hampshire, fresh from the lengthy MacArthur hearings, and full of ideas on a proper Korean peace, is another senatorial guest columnist.

Senator Andy Schoeppel, Republican of Kansas, one of the all-time great football stars of the U. S. A., may give you some inside tips on this Fall's championship teams—or a political dissertation. He has an unlimited choice.

The freshman Senator from Pennsylvania, James H. Duff, should keep you interested. He is a potent force in Republican presidential politics and what he has to say may carry a few political scalp.

With particular fondness I note, with the bon voyage, that Mrs. Ruth "Barbie" McCormick Tankersley, former editor of the Washington Times Herald, will add her views on Washington and the world in general to the distinguished commentary of those listed above. I've always wanted to find out what a newspaper publisher has to say when she turns columnist. Part of her job each day was reading the outpouring of the columnists writing for her newspaper. That sounds like a gruesome job—but let's see what she has to say about that.

For this is an axiom in human history: Race prejudice begets race prejudice. No people will voluntarily admit inferiority, because of blood and color, to any other people. Much of the antagonism which the United States is now encountering in Asia has its origin in the anti-Oriental agitation and legislation by Congress and by the legislatures of several western states 40 years and more ago.

So during the 1920's and 1930's, the relations between Japan and the United States deteriorated. On September 18, 1931, Japan invaded and eventually conquered Manchuria and the lower Yangtze Valley of China. This is the factual beginning of World War II, for it guaranteed that eventually the United States would make military efforts to rescue China. Chiang Kai-Shek, however had to wait a decade before the United States came in.

About a week before that war was over, and after the Japanese had tried to find a way to peace, Soviet Russia entered that war and, by the terms of the Yalta agreement, received as compensation all that Japan had prevented Russia from accomplishing by four wars and a policy of constant and vigilant militarization.

The Japanese accepted defeat with characteristic fatalism. They assumed the worst. However, the United States sent General Douglas MacArthur to Japan as pro-consul, who, instead of treating this nation as a conquered foe, set out to rebuild it as a bulwark against Soviet Russia. It is this magnanimous policy which is now incorporated in the Dulles treaty.

The Japanese recognized the historic significance of MacArthur's role and banded themselves to it. Unlike some of the European countries which regarded the Marshall plan as weakness and the assistance in their reconstruction provided by the United States as seriously motivated, the Japanese were grateful that the fate had been saved from the fate of China and cooperated faithfully with MacArthur, hoping that the world situation would so turn on its axis that Japan would be restored to national integrity.

And so, in accordance with the Dulles Treaty, Japan's industry and her military power will be restored and Japan will take the place which she should never have lost. It will be a great day for Asia when Japan is again the bulwark of civilization against Soviet Russia.

paperman or woman who asks me to give them the recipe.

It is usually someone who is "tired of working" and who wants to get in on what one correspondent calls "such an easy racket."

This fellow says he is sixty years old and has worked hard all his life, but never gotten anywhere.

He quit school when he was twelve and has tried his luck at "every kind of a job."

Last week he was fired again and now he is fed up.

"Hard work, regular hours, honesty never got me anywhere. Now I am getting old and I am in debt."

"I want to take it easy like you scribbling fellows do. So please tell me how to go about it. It seems to me that you columnists write so much fool stuff that almost anybody should be able to do as good."

I have not tried to give you the fellow's own peculiar style of spelling nor to reproduce his grammar.

The letter is written in pencil on ruled paper and there are several grease spots on the sheets.

Right there he lacks one of the most important qualifications a columnist MUST have . . . One simply cannot be a successful columnist unless he has a type-writer.

Editors are very peculiar cusses. They will not accept manuscripts (or copy, as we call it) unless they can read what the writer has written. They claim that pencil writing hurts their eyes.

As long as I have given away one of the deepest secrets of column-writing, I might as well divulge some of the others.

We fellows don't mind competition. During the past twelve months, as I think I have mentioned before, my syndicate turned down more than three hundred columns submitted to them—even though the great majority were typewritten.

I have mentioned some of the requirements a would-be columnist must fill before he can be one. There are others.

He must have a pencil and a few pieces of paper to take notes although I have often taken my notes on a book of matches and often borrowed a pencil to do so. A columnist should write his copy in duplicate, for which he needs a supply of carbon paper. Copy has been known to get lost and it is always safe to have a duplicate handy.

There are definite times at which a writer can do his best work. Some do best in the morning, others in the afternoon, still others at night.

I can do my best work when the office calls frantically on the telephone and says "Where in h— is that d— copy of yours?"

Then there is the matter of "inspiration." That is one question the aspiring columnist ALWAYS asks. "Do you have to be inspired, and how do you get inspired?"

Of course you have to have inspiration, and the best way to get it is to look at your unpaid bills and dunning letters.

Now that I have told you the secrets of my "easy racket"—good luck to you, my future fellow columnists!

You Can Have It

Truck Loses Bricks When It Hits Bank

A truck, the driver of which declared he was forced off the highway about 1:30 yesterday morning, hit a bank near the Robert Warner Inc. garage at 894 N. Ninth St., Arlington Heights, causing the load of brick to be dislodged.

The driver, whose identity could not be learned, informed employees of the Warner garage that he was moving south on Route 611 when another car crowded him off the right side of the highway.

The truck hit a bank swerving back on the road after having run some 25 or 30 feet. The lunch caused many bricks to fall off the machine on the left side extending to the Puleo property.

Only damage to the truck was to a fender.

Rev. Hardt To Conduct Services

Mount Pocono—Rev. H. E. Hardt, York, Pa., will hold a series of revival meetings here starting at 7:30 p. m. July 26. The meetings, open to all people of all churches, are sponsored by the Full Gospel Assembly of Paradise Valley.

Rev. William H. Douglas, Cresco, announced the revival series and the arrival of Rev. Hardt. He said the services will continue nightly at 7:30, except Mondays, until August 12. There will be two services on Sunday at 2:30 and 7:30.

"The purpose of these meetings, Rev. Douglas advised, is to stir up faith in the hearts of men and women and cause them to turn to God for the needs of their soul and body."

Rev. Hardt has held revivals throughout the East, the Cresco minister said, with great success in each instance. The visiting pastor has been engaged in the ministry for many years.

DeGasperi Asked To Form Cabinet

Rome (AP)—Premier Alcide De Gasperi last night was asked to form his seventh Italian cabinet.

The 70-year-old Christian Democrat leader was called by President Luigi Einaudi to the Quirinale palace and given a mandate to form the new government, after a two-hour meeting. He is expected to experience little difficulty in doing so, because of the sound majority of his party in both chambers.

De Gasperi resigned Monday after a cabinet meeting. His resignation followed criticism of some of his ministers both from within and outside his Christian Democrat party.

Nurse's Crusade Nears Conclusion

service at Devitt Camp, Pa., to enter Hahnemann hospital for the delicate operation which probably saved her life and gave to the nursing profession a rugged battle for their interests.

Miss Biggs was and still is strictly a nurse. She is not a politician and not an experienced lobbyist. She told her story in behalf of members of her profession on sheer facts developed from research.

It paid off... not for Loretta Biggs... but for all other nurses who will be active at the time the bill becomes a law after Governor Pine's signature, and nurses of the future.

Miss Biggs is one of seven daughters of Mrs. George Biggs. The mother is a widow and operates Biggs American restaurant at 746 Main St., Stroudsburg.

The young woman is now in San Francisco, Cal., working in a blood bank. Her mother, who was delighted to hear the House had passed the bill, said she intended to let Loretta know immediately that her bill has cleared both houses of Pennsylvania Legislature.

Ballots Delivered To Monroe County's Board Of Elections

Major Parties Hold Primary Next Tuesday

Democratic and Republican primary election ballots together with specimen ballots were delivered yesterday to the Monroe County Board of Elections at the commissioners' office by Sun Printery, East Stroudsburg.

The ballots are subject to a check for approval by the Board of Elections before they are accepted and prepared for distribution to the various judges of election in Monroe county's 33 voting districts.

The primary election will be held next Tuesday and polling places will be open from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m., Standard Time, or 8 a. m. to 9 p. m., Daylight Saving Time.

All districts except Barrett township use the old type paper ballots. Barrett is the only district in Monroe county using the automatic voting machine which automatically registers the total vote for every candidate and produces returns shortly after the polls close.

On election day all licensed places are closed until one hour after the polls are closed. State liquor store is closed. Monroe county court will be in session to handle all matters dealing with the election which require court action.

Both parties will nominate candidates who will oppose each other in November's general election for the following offices:

Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, sheriff, prothonotary and clerk of the courts, district attorney, register of wills and recorder of deeds, two county commissioners, two county auditors.

In addition various township and borough officials and officers of election boards will be named, including:

Judge of election, inspector of election, school directors, constable auditor, justice of the peace, councilmen and township supervisors.

Proper List Of Teachers Is Requested

John C. Litts, county superintendent of schools, is communicating with all school board secretaries, principals and supervising principals in Monroe county, with reference to proper certification of teachers in order not to cut down reimbursement in the districts.

Mr. Litts received a communication from Stanley A. Wengert, assistant director, teacher education and certification, State Department of Public Instruction, telling him of legal advice received from the Department of Justice with reference to the matter of certification.

Reference is made in the letter to Section 1202 of the public school code of 1949 as amended that all teachers of any kind must be properly certified to teach; also Section 1212 requiring registration of certificate before entering on the work of teaching and Section 2518 which provides for a forfeiture of one reimbursement unit for each teacher who is employed without a certificate.

Mr. Litts said these provisions also apply to emergency certificates so that they will be effective the beginning of the school term. If these are not properly filed and registered, it will be cause for forfeiture of reimbursement to the school district.

FRESH AIR YOUNGSTERS and their Monroe County hosts were guests at a party staged in the Penn Stroud hotel ballroom last night by Radio Station WVPO. At top the little visitors are lined up at the service table for a buffet lunch. At bottom, Toni Spaulding, WVPO commentator, is interviewing Patty LaGuardia, New York City Fresh Air guest.

Gala Party Staged By WVPO For Fresh Air Guests, Hosts

Over 100 children and adults attended the WVPO Fresh Air children's party held last night in the ballroom of the Penn-Stroud hotel. Miss Toni Spaulding, who has her own show Monday through Friday from 7 to 8:30 p. m., conducted her program last night from the scene of the party, where she carried on interviews with the children and their hosts.

The ballroom was brightly decorated with clusters of balloons hanging from the chandeliers and walls, and a long table crowded with refreshments was located on one side of the room.

Members of the Stroudsburg Women's club and the Stroudsburg Junior Women's club served as hostesses to the many guests. Each received a paper hat and all the cookies, fruit, candy, cake, ice cream and lemonade they could consume. The refreshments were donated by various merchants and individuals from Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg.

The children played games, danced, and listened to recorded stories. A special feature of the night was the appearance of Hugh Brannum, of Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians, who presented one of his specialty numbers featuring Uncle Lumpy and Little Orlie.

Monroe Garden Club Takes Grandstand Seats For Rains

Gardeners have welcomed the recent rains for their gardens but the members of the Monroe County Garden club could have managed with a little less rain yesterday which was the date of their annual picnic at the Stroudsburg playground.

The event had been listed rain or shine, but it was mostly rain so the 21 intrepid gardeners who attended ate their luncheon in the shelter of the grandstands where high in the stands they shared their favorite dishes and watched the intermittent rain.

There was an informal program given by the members themselves, since their scheduled speaker, Harold Anthony, was unable to be present.

Mrs. M. Howard Williams talked on birds; Miss Fannie Swartz-welder reminded the members that this was the blight season when tomato plants and other garden plants should be sprayed; Mrs. Harry Peters described the care of cut flowers during the summer; and Mrs. William Hawn, president, reviewed the book "18th Century Garland" which describes the use of dried material in winter bouquets, as exemplified at Colonial Williamsburg.

Mrs. A. Starr Phelps gave the history of the box clubberry, which is one of the club's contributions to Bowman's Hill Wild Flower preserve, and there was a general discussion of garden problems.

Mrs. Roy Bush was chairman of the hostess committee and was assisted by Mrs. O. J. Liljenstein, Mrs. John Teisher, Mrs. John Fisher and Mrs. Joseph Noonan. The August meeting of the group will be held at the home of Mrs. John Robacker above Shawnee. Mrs. Robacker, who with her husband is an authority on Pennsylvania Dutch customs and history, will be the guest speaker.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

About so much of this rained-out business and you begin to stop feeling rebellious and start enjoying the funny side of it. Certainly the Garden club members weren't as numerous at the picnic as they would have been on a sunny day, but the ones who were there had a hilarious time eating in tiers in the old grandstand at the playgrounds.

And maybe the women at Glen Brook learned more about golf rules at the clinic than they would have on the course, judging by the gasps that went up at some of Mike's pronouncements.

And it's no sense postponing things as the Mizpah Bible class has discovered after being rained out week after week. And look what there had happened to St. John's if they'd postponed it from Wednesday to Thursday.

However, the ones I feel sorry for are the Fresh Air children who must be convinced that the beautiful Poconos are 99 and six-tenths per cent water by now. That party last night must have been sort of a welcome relief to the Friendly Town hosts who must be running out of rainy-day ideas of entertainment.

However, it's raining in Korea, too, and there are floods in the middle west, and the Delaware we'd just better bring in those clothes that have been hanging on the line since Tuesday and dry them in the cellar and stop fussing.

Delegates Return From State Convention

The challenge to the members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its auxiliary to fight to maintain the freedom so hard won by those who had gone before set the keynote for the state convention held last week in Philadelphia, where the national historic shrines were visited by the group.

Governor Fine, Senator Martin and other state leaders spoke to the joint session.

The auxiliary heard the ambassador from Korea give a plea for the lost children in the land so ravaged by war, and a young Korean girl sang a number of songs.

There were visitors from many other patriotic organizations, and reports on the various state pro-

A surprise birthday party was held for Miss Hilda Oloff on Friday, the 13th at the home of Shirley Schwartz. The yard had been decorated with Japanese lanterns, and candles brightened the tables on the lawn.

Music was furnished by Louis Fiore, pianist; Milton Metzman, saxophone, and David Tarmarkin with his electric guitar. Dancing and refreshments were enjoyed.

The guests included Joyce Young, Sandy Brandwein, Sylvia Golob, Eleanor DeNik, Barbara Eicher, Patricia Zeiner, Justine Newhart, Milton Metzman, David Tarmarkin, Lewis, Fiore, Milton Klein, Jack Skloff, Larry Seifer, Angelo Opisso, Angelo Montagna, Paul Anderson, Ronnie Schwartz, Jerry Muys, Bernard Koltow, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schwartz, Shirley Schwartz and the guest of honor, Hilda Oloff.

Mrs. All Is Named To BPWC Board

The appointment of Mrs. Berenice All as vice president of the Business and Professional Woman's club was announced last night at the club meeting held at the Village Inn, Marshall's Creek. She will fill the term of Dr. Carolyn Toewe who has been commissioned in the U. S. Air Force.

The business meeting followed a dinner at the Village Inn enjoyed by about 40 members and their guests. Miss Helen Kulp presided at the meeting and reported briefly on the recent state convention.

Several proposed projects for the club were considered for the winter's activities.

Mrs. Marie Huffman showed colored slides which she and her husband, Norman Huffman, had taken during their stay in Florida last winter.

Members who did not attend camp are also invited to join in the meeting.

Members of both the Senior and Junior Youth Fellowships of the club were considered for the winter's activities.

Cap Firemen List Dates For Carnival

The annual carnival for the benefit of the Delaware Water Gap Fire Co. will be held the week-ends of July 26, 27 and 28 and August 2, 3 and 4. This year it will be held on the grounds around the recently completed fire house in the borough, instead of the school grounds as in previous years.

Revenue from the carnival will be used to help defray some of the expenses entailed with the construction of the new building.

The carnival will feature games and fun for people of all ages, and it is hoped that the public will avail themselves of the good fun offered.

In the event of rain on any of the dates set for the affair, all activities will be conducted in the fire house itself.

Fire Chief Fred Decker is general chairman of the carnival and Francis R. Drake is the treasurer. All members of the company will actively participate with duties being assigned to each.

The auxiliary of the fire company will handle the refreshment booth as well as the booth for small children.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Second Suit Filed Against Ex-Manager

Hanger—A second suit involving operators of the Army and Navy store at 29 Broadway, here, and a former employee has started this week in Northampton County court.

Helen Kurlansk, Allentown, who said she operates the store, brought the suit against George Falteich, Messing St., former store manager, who, the suit claims, quit May 8.

The suit claims that Falteich made no accounting of store proceeds and retained $7,033.66 for his own use. The suit, which was filed by Israel Krohn, is for that amount.

The new suit counters one started June 18 by Falteich, in which he sued David and Helen Kurlansk, whom he described as the store operators, for $6,628.34. Saying he had worked for the store since 1932, he claimed the sum is due him for unpaid commissions. His suit was filed by E. P. Turizon.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Stan Kupinski, one of the best basketball players in the history of the Monroe County league, is currently engaged in the process of becoming a Naval officer at the United States Naval Academy, this column was informed yesterday by Carl Majer, athletic director at Tobyhanna Township High school, where Kupinski starred in both basketball and baseball during his high school days.

Kupinski won a letter in both sports at Wyoming Seminary, where he received an athletic scholarship, last year. Stan is a first year midshipman, or what is more commonly known as a "plebe" at the Academy, at the present time. Kupinski received an appointment to the Naval Academy last spring, after rating high in the entrance examinations.

Those wishing to write the former TTHS star and resident of Pocono Summit, may do so by using the following address: Midshipman Stanley S. Kupinski 4/c USN, Room 3152, Bancroft Hall, USNA, Annapolis, Md. Majer, who is currently recovering from surgery on his back, coached Kupinski all through his high school career and helped develop the youngster into the highest scorer in the history of the Monroe County league.

Dick Fritchard, speedy shortstop for the Roseto entry in the Blue Mountain League, has never been thrown out attempting to steal a base in all the time he has campaigned in the circuit, which includes at least parts of five seasons. Fitcher, president of the Eastern Pennsylvania Scholastic Coaches association, and a frequent visitor to the Stroudsburgs, reportedly has the inside track on the basketball coaching position at the University of Scranton.

Ray Welsh, former basketball mentor at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College and a scout for the Pittsburgh Pirates, took a day off from talent searching yesterday to spend a day at home on Dreher Ave. However, the likeable Welsh is off to Quincyville, Pa., today, to take in an American Legion all-star game. Joe Penczak, former third baseman for Peeksikil, when that team and the North Atlantic league were in operation, has developed into a top-flight bench jockey for the Allentown club, of the class "B" Inter-State league.

Ernest "Duke" Landgraf, president of the North Atlantic league, even though it is inactive this year, recently visited Cooperstown, N. Y., home of baseball's Hall of Fame. Ray Bortz, one time infielder with the Nazareth Barons, North Atlantic league, has played shortstop, second base and third base at one time or another this season for Hagerstown, Md., of the Inter-State league. Mike Ribish, head pro at Glen Brook Country club, doing an outstanding job of running the club championship tournament this year, working on it to well after midnight last night.

The fact that Pocono Sunrise Speedway has closed down for several weeks should mean added attendance at both the Delaware Valley Speedway and West End Speedway on Sunday. Ted Wicand, top notch pitcher for Slatington High and Coplay American Legion this year, is reportedly tending batting practice for the Wilmington Blue Rocks, of the Inter-State league. Wicand is being sought by several major league clubs, but the Philadelphia Phillies apparently have the inside track.

Angie Lockwitch, defending title holder at Glen Brook, is very much in the running for the crown once again, as the tournament enters its semi-final round this weekend. Bill Nixon, executive secretary of the Pocono Mountain Chamber of Commerce, is in the running for the top prize to be awarded the winner of the first flight, at the same club. However, Bill had to finish strong in both his matches to date to bring home the bacon.

Although Gene Caskie is spending the summer in Philadelphia, those interested in basketball at Stroudsburg High school are hopeful that the tall court star will return here for school in September. George Martin, pitching ace of the Pocono Mountain league for the past several years, is taking his baseball in the role of a spectator this season, because of an arm injury.

Penn Decides To String Along With NCAA's Television Plan

Los Angeles, (AP)—President Hugh C. Willett, of the National Collegiate Athletic association yesterday announced that Pennsylvania's revolt against the NCAA television plan has ended and that the university has been restored to good standing.

Willett announced he had been informed of Penn's decision to go along with the NCAA television experimental program in a statement received from Francis Murray, athletic director at Penn.

Intact
The decision, Willett said, leaves the lineup of NCAA members intact in the program to determine the effect of television on college football.

In Philadelphia all efforts to locate Murray for comment were unsuccessful, a Penn spokesman said he was trying to find Murray and obtain a statement.

Willett, elated over the termination of a debate that has raged across the country for weeks since Penn backed out of participating in the controlled television plan, reiterated that there will be "plenty" of games televised this fall.

Penn had insisted that it would continue its television program and challenged the constitutionality of the NCAA's efforts to compel its members to follow the one-year experimental program. Several schools notified Penn they would break off athletic relations if the school maintained its position.

Rain Postpones Local Diamond Games

No Dates Set For Making Up Battles

Rain and wet grounds raised havoc with the sporting picture in Monroe and nearby Northampton counties for the umpteenth time in recent weeks last night, when the entire schedule of baseball and softball games was washed off the books, at least temporarily.

Two of the contests postponed were in the Blue Mountain League. Pocono A. C. was scheduled to clash with Johnsonville at Portland, while Portland's Apollos were listed to invade the home domain of Tatum. However, neither contest was played because of wet grounds.

No dates were announced last night for making up the games.

The East Stroudsburg Little League game between Peters-Arnold-Howell and the National Bank was postponed by wet grounds. However, the circuit will return to action tonight, when R. C. Cramer Lumber Co. and the Methodists clash at the East Stroudsburg Playground, at 6:15.

Same Story
A Stroudsburg Little League battle between People's Coal and the National Bank was also called off last night because of wet grounds at the Stroudsburg Playground. Although a game is expected to be played tonight, no announcement along this line was made last night.

Last night's activity in the Monroe County Softball League was also postponed. No games are listed for tonight. Patterson-Kelley and Kulp's Foundry were listed for the East Stroudsburg Junior High field, while Worthington Mower and Line Material were slated for the East Stroudsburg playground, before the rain came.

Cincinnati Wants Return Bout

Pittsburgh, (AP)—The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette said last night that Sam Becker, Cincinnati promoter, has offered Jersey Joe Walcott and Ezzard Charles $150,000 each to take their heavyweight championship return bout to Cincinnati.

Cincinnati is Charles' home town.
Four other cities—New York, Pittsburgh, Atlantic City and Philadelphia—also want the bout. The 90-day return bout agreement specifies New York as the site for the fight but Jim Norris, head of the International Boxing club, says this can be changed.

Nothing will be done about the bout until next week when managers for Champion Walcott and Charles go to New York to discuss possible dates and sites.

The decision, Willett said, leaves the lineup of NCAA members intact in the program to determine the effect of television on college football.

In Philadelphia all efforts to locate Murray for comment were unsuccessful, a Penn spokesman said he was trying to find Murray and obtain a statement.

Willett, elated over the termination of a debate that has raged across the country for weeks since Penn backed out of participating in the controlled television plan, reiterated that there will be "plenty" of games televised this fall.

Penn had insisted that it would continue its television program and challenged the constitutionality of the NCAA's efforts to compel its members to follow the one-year experimental program. Several schools notified Penn they would break off athletic relations if the school maintained its position.

Pocono Sunrise Speedway To Remain Idle At Least Three Weeks While Repairs Are Made

Blakeslee — Pocono Sunrise Speedway, which was inactive for the first time since it was built last Sunday will remain idle for at least three more weeks it was learned last night. An official reopening of the track hasn't been scheduled at the present time. According to reports much work is planned for the dirt half-mile oval before it reopens to stock car racing.

Plans call for a new guard rail completely around the track and calcium is scheduled to be coated on the turns to combat dust.

Reports also indicate that night racing is a possibility in the future. George Perluk, track owner, is now attempting to obtain suitable lighting facilities.

Further reports on the face lifting being given the track are expected to be announced in the near future.

It was also disclosed last night that Don Joyce, publicity director for the Sunrise Speedway, had resigned his position, due to the pressure of other duties.

Indians Trip Red Sox In Eleven Frames

Cleveland (AP)—The onrushing Cleveland Indians made it two out of three over the first place Boston Red Sox yesterday when speedy Bob Avila raced all the way home from first on an eleventh inning single to give the Tribe a 5-4 victory in their series finale.

By dropping the contest, Boston now has a lead of only three percentage points over the Chicago White Sox, who yesterday defeated the New York Yankees.

The spectacular end to the fiercely-fought game came after Avila reached base on a single—that scored pinch-hitter Bob Lemon for the tying run.

Then with two out, Sam Chapman's popper landed behind third base. Off with the pitch, Avila had almost reached third when left fielder Ted Williams picked up the ball.

Williams held the ball, expecting Avila to play it safe and hold up at third. But the swift little second baseman continued, sliding safely across the plate to beat Williams' throw.

Clyde Vollmer, banged out two homers for the Sox to make it 16 straight games in which he has hit safely.

His second circuit-smash came in the eleventh and put the visitors ahead, 4-3.

Pinch-hitter Vern Stephens of the Sox had tied up the count 3-3 in the ninth when he singled in Fred Hatfield, who had reached base on a one-bagger.

Early Wynn went the route for the Tribe to win his fifth straight victory and his tenth game of the season against nine losses.

Harry Taylor, who pitched the last four innings after starter Maurice McDermott was taken out for a pinch hitter, was the loser.

United States Opens First Round Of Davis Cup Play Against Japan At Louisville Today

by Will Grimsley

Louisville (AP)—Young Dick Savitt, flushed with two major international victories, opens the United States Davis Cup comeback campaign today, meeting Japan's veteran Fumitomo Nakano in the first round of the American Zone tennis eliminations.

The second singles match at the Louisville boat club, fixed by blind draw yesterday, sends little Herbie Flam of Los Angeles against Japan's National Champion, 29-year-old Jiro Kumamaru. The program starts at 3 p.m. (EDT).

The rival captains—dashing Frank Shields of the U. S. forces and Japan's grand old man of tennis, Ichiji Kumagae—both expressed satisfaction with the way names were plucked out of silver goblets in the first televised Davis Cup draw in history.

The ceremonies, attended by dignitaries of the sport and the state, were staged in station WHAS-TV and witnessed by an audience of thousands.

Pleased

"I was glad to see our big man—that is, Savitt—play the first match," said Shields, making his debut as U. S. captain. "It's always good to get one point in the bank."

Savitt, 24-year-old former Cornell star who hit his stride this year recently won the Wimbledon championship after taking the Australian title in the winter. Nakano, 36-year-old army chaplain in the last war, is playing on his third cup team.

Kumagae, who played Bill Tilden and little Bill Johnston when the Japs last met the United States in tennis back in 1921, said he also was pleased with the draw.

"We think Kumamaru has a good chance against Flam," the graying, 61-year-old Japanese leader said in flawless English. "He held Flam to five sets at Chicago. This match means much more to him. I think he will play his greatest tennis."

The United States, with an edge in experience and stroking power, is favored to win the series easily and qualify to move into the second round against Mexico August 3-5.

If they can win both singles, the U. S. netmen can clinch the victory in tomorrow's doubles with the veteran Billy Talbert of New York and 20-year-old Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, who haven't been beaten in two years.

Shawnee Lists Tennis Pro

Shawnee-on-Delaware—With the appointment of Charles "Chuck" Seadale of Dorchester, Mass., as head tennis professional at Shawnee Inn and Country club here, activity on the Shawnee clay courts is booming.

Former Club

Seadale, who has spent four years as pro at the Elbow Beach Surf club, Bermuda, is conducting senior and junior group clinics two days a week as well as giving private instruction.

The Shawnee clay courts, excelled by none in the nation, have been used not only by top-notch amateurs but have also attracted such famous players as the Davis Cup stars from Australia. Plans are now under way at Shawnee to conduct several tennis exhibitions later in the summer.

No action is planned for the Inter-Borough Baseball league until Monday, it was announced last night by Doug Schoonover, director of the circuit. Monday's schedule calls for Central Labor Union and Nauman's Sporting Goods to oppose each other at Gordon Giffels field, at 6:15.

GRANITE NYLONS

1.65 60 gauge — 15 denier

"60" is associated with finer hosiery—and that is what women want. "60" produces a smaller stitch, the resulting fabric is amazingly smooth and free from the "ribbed" effect so conspicuous in coarser gauge fabric. Granite nylons are famous for the garter block. Fashionable Summer shades in sizes 8½ to 11.
